

Cathy has been working as a Rehabilitation Consultant for more than 32 years. Her combined clinical and community experience have demonstrated the importance of her impact. As a strong, positive advocate, for the disabled and injured, her role has encompassed the provision of individualized medical and vocational case management programming, establishing strong communication and liaising skills. She has continued to gain extensive knowledge assisting children, teens and adults, who have sustained serious catastrophic impairments. In her role she has continued to demonstrate professionalism and proficiency in planning and coordinating services delivered to clients with physical, cognitive and emotional disabilities.
