

Matt earned his Masters of Science in Education, in 2013 from Buffalo State University of New York. In 2004 he attended The University of Western Ontario where he completed a Bachelor of Arts in Sociology. Matt is also a graduate of the Seneca College, Social Service Worker Diploma Program (2002). His combined education and employment experiences, having lived and worked in Malaysia, Kuwait and South Korea, have provided a natural broadening of understanding of cultural and ethnic sensitivity. He has experience teaching English as a Second Language at Fanshawe College. Also, he has recent work experience providing support to individual's that have been diagnosed with mental health issues and require physical and social support to carry out activities of daily living.

Matt's collaborative and diverse background have allowed him with the opportunity to assist youth and adults. His passion for teaching, educating and assisting others is certain to be an asset to our clients and the DMAREhability Team.
